Levels under level 1 collapsed by default if this is checked. Shown as collapsed in document body but not in the Navigation Pane.

If an outline level is set in the paragraph formatting the paragraph will show up in the Navigation Pane.

This is best set in the paragraph Style rather than as direct formatting.

The image shows a screenshot of the Microsoft Word interface with the Paragraph dialog box open. The dialog box has two tabs: 'Indents and Spacing' (selected) and 'Line and Page Breaks'. In the 'General' section, the 'Outline level' dropdown is set to 'Level 1', and the 'Collapsed by default' checkbox is checked. The 'Indentation' section shows 'Left' and 'Right' settings. The 'Spacing' section shows 'Before' and 'After' settings, 'Line spacing' set to 'Multiple', and 'At' set to '1.15'. The 'Preview' section shows a preview of the paragraph with 'Level 1' heading. Annotations include a green box pointing to the 'Collapsed by default' checkbox and a red box pointing to the 'Outline level' dropdown. A text box explains that levels under level 1 are collapsed by default if this is checked, and another text box states that setting an outline level in the paragraph formatting is the best way to show up in the Navigation Pane.
